Prompt option 3: What are some of the differences you've noticed between a school environment and a professional work environment?

I've noticed that there is more freedom in the workspace at RedHat while everybody still gets all of their work done. Back at school we are hovered over constantly and made sure we are getting our work done constantly while we have more freedom at the internship. Although we have more freedom we are still getting our work done in a timely manner. I've also noticed a large increase in group work at the internship compared to my school environment allowing me to connect with my peers better and work together more efficiently. The overall environment at my school pails in comparison to the RedHat environment in countless ways making the entire experience much more enjoyable.
